Hongsong, June 15th, 1894.

THE disgusting state of affairs which has He hasn't time to come. up to a day or two ago prevailed at the Kennedytown branch of the Tung Wah Hospital has not unnaturally given rise to sense of this sort. (To plaintiff)-Prove your a widely entertained impression that it was a mistake to allow plague patients to be treated in a native hospital at all. Certainly if the hospital was to be allowed to be overcrowded and to become a mere charnel house the steamer Menmuir. One of the objects of it was a mistake. But that was not what was contemplated when the permission was given, and that the state of affairs described might be established in Hongkong, for by Mr. GRANVILLE SHARP in his recent letter should have been allowed to arise must he considered as reflecting serious discredit on the Tung Wah Hospital Committee and more particularly on the Government, which is responsible for permitting it. Matsheds are cheap enough, and can be very speedily ance he has received from the Governor and the erected, so that there is no excuse for not Acting Surveyor General in prosecuting bla promptly extending the accommodation when extension was seen to be necessary. When the official correspondence embodying the history of the plague comes, to be published, as published it ought to be, it | the Soth May, at 5.30 a.m. the Hanci left will be interesting to note what representations, if any, were made on the subject to | nese junk was sighted lying across the steamer's the Government by the Colonial Surgeon; the official charged with the duty of inspecting all the hospitals in the Colony. But that the original decision to allow the natives to be treated by their own doctors was a reasonable one we cannot doubt. It is only the weakness of the Government in allowing the permission to be abused as well as the one that had been attacked, and that is responsible for the existence of the returned to Rollow, where he headed them over fearful state of things that has been des. cribed. Naturally it must be a matter of had no doubt thrown her fireness overboard, regret with every one that the Chinese are not willing to avail themselves of the ad- could be given. M. Chedako cannot be too highly condying by exciting meedless fears. If they gratulated on his action in the matter, preferred to die in a Chinese hospital, it was not upreasonable that their preference should be taken into consideration. Correspondents write to the papers urging on the one hand that it is absurd to attempt to govern the Chinese like Europeans, and on the other that it is still more abound to Spanish and French strongly distruct Great attempt to govern them on Chinese principles, the predominant idea apparently being that things should somehow be made as uncomfortable for thom, as possible, and that with a sufficiency of kicking they may perchance save their souls alive. DICTIONARY WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIS PRONUNCIATION. An Auglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Datty Press Office, Hongkony. For comprehensiveness and practical se this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objoots in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advanceof foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Panti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size the mails, &c. of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not proviously attained, and disponsing with those vast marginsand vacant spaces which have herefore characterised Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:--Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 15.000 Chinese characters, and Medharst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Gibraltan this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwa ds of 600,000 Chinese charac-

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands Euglish to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion- A.M.) with 10 cents late fee up to 11.30 A.M.
